Join us for a magical evening of live poetry and spoken word. Get ready for heartfelt poems, big feelings, and all the raw emotion you didn't know you needed!

Isabella Dorta is a 5-time best selling poet/author, most known for her debut collection »how sunflowers bloom under moonlight« and is proudly published by Penguin RandomHouse and Andrews McMeel.

Known for reading her poetry aloud on social media, Isabella refers to herself not as a poet, but as a young woman who just feels things »a little too ferociously«.

Her work covers topics such as feminism, love, heartbreak, grief and mental health- or as she says: »all of the sh*t you're too afraid to talk about!«
